Candid expressions of opinion, from all candidates for Selectman and School Committee, will be found on pages 4-5-6.

They are in response to questions by the Townsman, in an attempt to determine where the candidates stand on issues of the day.

Candidates for Selectman were asked about pay raises, central purchasing, and use of the policy-making prerogatives of the Board. Questions for School Committee candidates also included central purchasing, because this is of concern to all town departments; asked an opinion on school construction, and on including a swimming pool in any school building program.

The candidates' opinions are varied and interesting; and are presented in this issue for the enlightenment of the voters prior to March 2.

Board Delays Site Action

The Selectmen have halted further consideration of the Barnard property on South Main St., as an elementary school site, at least until all other possible choices are examined.

Although the School Committee is authorized by town meeting to designate school sites, the Selectmen must approve expenditures of the Land Acquisition Committee. It was revealed Monday night that the Board called a halt, at least temporarily, on acquisition procedures dealing with this site, during an informal mid-week meeting Jan. 8.

When the Board met Jan. 14, minutes of the Jan. 8 failed to show the action taken but the subject was recalled by Selectman William Stewart, Board secretary. He once again made it clear Monday night, as the Selectmen and Finance Committee sat together to confer on special articles.

A sprawling, single-story building with 267,000 square feet of space is planned for the 20 acres of land across from the Rolling Green Motor Inn.

The Internal Revenue Service will locate its northeast service center on the land, which has been zoned for shopping center use for several years. Harry Axelrod is owner of the property.

The Government Services Administration announced the site selection in Washington, ending many months of searching for a location in Greater Lawrence.

Up to 2,600 persons will be employed at the plant, which is estimated to cost over four million dollars. The government will own the building, and it will be non-taxable by the town.

The present Internal Revenue center is in Lawrence, with about half the employee level at peak times, and a permanent workforce of 550.

The planned structure here will be serviced by a 600-car parking lot.

Congressman F. Bradford Morse said the center should be processing about 17.4 million individual and corporation tax returns, and other associated documents, when in full operation. It will serve all of New England and New York state.

C.D. Shelters Are Supplied

A 14-day supply of food, water, medical and sanitary supplies for 19,071 men, women and children is being stored here now, inside 14 potential Civil Defense shelters.

CD Director Burton B. Batcheller announced completion of this phase of the shelter program. In addition, a radiological kit has been supplied for each of the shelters.

The Army Corps of Engineers, after surveying the town, has licensed 14 buildings as shelters. Several others have provisional approval, but are not yet licensed. Batcheller expects the town can eventually provide shelter for more than 25,000 individuals.

A specific plan for use of the buildings has yet to be worked out, he explained. Eventually, all residents of the town will be as-

Charter Not Fully Implemented, Report Cites Chapter & Verse

Some town charter requirements are not being carried out.

Thus there is no way to tell how effective the charter might be.

There are ways and means available to the municipal government to correct the omissions and improve the total operation.

These are basic conclusions from the Charter Study Committee report, which was handed to the Selectmen recently.

All three major divisions of the government - Selectmen, School Committee and Town Manager - are tagged with the responsibility for partial failures, by not following the "spirit, intent and meaning" of the charter.

The Committee believed these failures might have been understandable in a period of transition, but stated "Four and one-half years is much too long for that interim period".

The Committee also found that, of the original nine major, valid objectives to be achieved by complete implementation of the charter, eight either have not been met at all or only partially. One was not definite enough for a finding.

A full 22 pages were devoted to the report - failures to follow the charter were detailed, and chapters of the charter were reviewed in terms of official actions taken.

The Townsman this week attempts to furnish the highlights of the report - its recommendations as well as its criticisms.

FinCom Approves $326,200 In Special Warrant Articles

The Finance Committee has approved spending $326,200 under special articles - representing about half of the total amount requested.

One or two items are still open, however, which could boost this recommended total. These include surface drainage projects and the touchy item of employee salaries in three separate articles.

Also in the undecided stage is Selectman Paul Cronin's $75,000 article to renovate the barn on the Shaw property for police station use.

The Finance Committee, meeting with the Selectmen Monday night, announced plans to use free cash to pay for special articles.

There won't be much left in this account, to be used to offset the general tax rate, according to FinCom Chairman Norman Barracough. He said about $250,000 should be kept in the fund.

If there is, indeed, very little available money to apply against the budgetary appropriations, Town Manager Thomas E. Duff's estimated tax rate increase of

Primary Law: Obey Charter

One major recommendation has come out of the Charter Study Committee's report:

"That the charter be fully implemented and faithfully adhered to, in intent, spirit and meaning".

But in addition to this primary goal, the Committee lists many recommendations for town officials to study. Of major significance are:

Policy topics for the Selectmen. Establish a purchasing policy, perhaps through an appointed committee of experts.

Change the format of budgets for clearer presentation.

Put all new services, or budgetary costs created by them, in special articles in the warrant.

Furnish all public reports to the Library for voter-use; make certain that all facts are known and presented to the town on major issues; prepare a directory of service for the voters, and study a central telephone switchboard for better communications.

Study the need for a personnel board to aid the manager in establishing wages, salaries, changes in classification, etc.

In discussing the budget, and related town meeting action, the Committee obviously wants the voters to be in the know whenever possible.

The recommendations are in substantial detail in this one field.

The Finance Committee report, for example, would give comparisons with past years, rates of growth in expenditures and in the community's size - a wealth of detail that, in some years, has been furnished by private agencies, on the floor of town meeting.

The report asks that a full explanation be made of expenses for each department, so that the full cost of each will be known.

The Committee also recom-

How LOW Are Prices At the CO-OP ?

Every once in a while a shopper will tell us that some of our prices are low. Is there any truth to such a statement? The answer, of course, is "yes."

In a business with many thousands of items, many of which are subject to frequent price fluctuations, it is inevitable that we should be a few cents lower at times. And it is just as inevitable that we should be higher.

At the CO-OP, it is our firm policy to sell at competitive prices.

We recently checked our prices with several nearby supermarkets. Out of 43 standard and representative items, the CO-OP was up on five, down on four and the same on 34.

The food business is, by its very nature, a highly competitive, low-markup kind of business. When a food store sells regularly at competitive prices, it is offering the public genuine values for its money.

The CO-OP is such a store, not because competition forces it to do so, but rather because this is part of a positive philosophy of doing business.

3 Students In All-State Chorus

Mrs. Miriam McArdle, director of music education in the Andover schools, has announced that three Andover High School members of the "A Cappella Choir" have won membership in the Massachusetts All-State Chorus. They are Scott Downes and Edward Parker, seniors and Frank Orlando, a junior.

They competed with the finest singers in all the high schools of the state. Keith Gould is the A Cappella Choir choral instructor. This is the highest choral honor in the state, won through keen competition with the finest singers from all the high schools.

The Andover winners will spend three days, April 9, 10, 11 in New Bedford, where they will rehearse, with the winners from many high schools of Massachusetts, in preparation for the All-State Concert, which will be presented as a highlight of the Massachusetts Music Educators Conference, Saturday afternoon, April 11. A large number of parents and friends of the winners are planning to attend the Concert in New Bedford.

Friends of Mrs. Robert J. Jordan, 180 Chestnut st., will be interested to know that she is a patient at the BonSecours Hospital, Methuen.

Welcome To Visit School

A great deal of interest has been expressed in the architectural features of The Pike School, which was built at a cost of only $14,100 per square foot.

This evening, Feb. 20, an opportunity for all who are interested in viewing the facilities will be available. The school has planned a "Parents' Association" meeting tonight and anyone is welcome to visit the establishment between 7 and 8 p.m., when the classrooms, in addition to all other areas will be open. Any who wish to remain for the formal meeting, which follows the classroom visits will be welcome to join the group.

At the formal meeting, William Harding, the headmaster, will review in detail the school's program for evaluating a child's academic progress. Audio-visual techniques will be used to dramatize the analysis of specific student situations.

The purpose of the presentation will be to help all parents at all grade levels understand more accurately the meaning of a child's "marks", teachers' comments, and various standard test scores, and how these three areas of observation are related to assure a complete picture of the child's ability and progress.

Held Shower For Miss Peterson

A shower was held at the home of Mrs. Clayton Northey, 52 Rocky Hill rd., Feb. 14, in honor of Miss Diana Peterson, 98 Greenwood rd., in anticipation of her coming marriage.

Held Hearing On Zoning

The Florence st. zoning controversy came briefly into the spotlight last Monday night, when residents opposed town meeting action which will put lot 83 into business zone. The lot has been the subject of lengthy court action and is still in the courts on appeal. The zoning in question is proposed as part of an entire description of the town's business zoning. The Planning Board has sought to describe the areas, and show them on a map, in such a way as to avoid future problems over split lots and hard-to-follow maps. The Board is divided over how to treat the Florence st. problem.

SIGNING THE BILL - Governor Endicott Peabody last week signed into law the bill allowing local voters to act on acceptance of a statute setting a $5,500 to $6,300 salary range for police patrolmen. Witnessing the signature were Officer Duncan Cairnie, Chief David L. Nicoll, State Senator James P. Rurak, Officer Frederick Welch, Officer Warren Maddox and Representative Albert Pettoruto, who filed the legislation for the officers. As a result of legislative action and the governor's approval, the question will appear as number three on the ballot March 2.

Held Hearing On Zoning

The Florence st. zoning controversy came briefly into the spotlight last Monday night, when residents opposed town meeting action which will put lot 83 into a business zone. The lot has been the subject of lengthy court action and is still in the courts on appeals. The zoning in question is proposed as part of an entire description of the town's business zoning. The Planning Board has sought to describe the areas, and show them on a map, in such a way as to avoid future problems over split lots and hard-to-follow maps. The Board is divided over how to treat the Florence st. problem. The secretary Virginia Hammond, feeling that it should be left alone because litigation is in progress, Creation of a second, potential Florence st. situation, on land along Central st., was charged by Joseph B. Doherty.

He, with brothers James D. and William A. Doherty, own a parcel of business-zoned property on Central st., across from the McCord building.

The former course of Rogers Brook through the land was a dividing line between residential and commercial, with only a small part of the lot in residential zone. The proposed description also follows Rogers Brook, but the new course of this piped drainage system cuts sharply through the lot, and would leave a larger part of it in a residential zone. The Planning Board thought some-thing could be worked out, by meeting with the Doherty family.

A third area of objection, at the Planning Board's official hearing Monday, concerned a business zone requested for frontage along North Main st. in front of the Washington Park apartment complex.

Owners of the area wish to put an office building on the land. Objections were raised by residents across North Main st. and in the general area. They complained that the whole length of the street would become commercialized, and appeared dissatisfied with answers as to what tenants might occupy the proposed office building, or concerning any other plans for the area.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Stingle and their children, Kirstin and Kirk, of Coolidge st., Sekonk, spent the weekend recently with Mr. and Mrs. James A. Booth, 333 Salem st.

Candidates For Selectman Speak Clearly On Issues

These are the three questions asked of the candidates for Selectman:

Do you favor adoption of the police raise, ballot question No. 3, with a minimum-maximum ratio of $5,500 to $6,300? How do you feel about the general three percent raise awarded by the manager to all employees?

Do you think centralized purchasing should be adopted as specified in the town charter?

In your opinion, has the Board of Selectmen exercised its strong policy-making prerogatives to the degree you would wish to see them used? How would you act differently?

Here are their answers, in the order they will be on the ballot March 2 - first, candidates for the three year term, then those seeking the one-year vacancy:

Philip K. AllenQuestion 1

"Under the Charter, the town manager sets the salaries of the town employees.

"Under our system of checks and balances, employees or groups of employees may, with legislative approval, seek a referendum vote at town elections. This the Andover Police Association has chosen to do as is their right. As a Selectman I share, however, with the town manager the responsibility for the current and proposed classified salary schedules. I cannot, therefore, in full conscience, unpopular though my stand may be, support this referendum, although I shall not oppose it, but will leave the whole matter up to the voters as is only fitting under the circumstances. I feel the same way about the general raise proposed for town employees by the Manager.

Question 2

"I think that efforts have already been made to achieve the practical goal of centralized purchasing as spelled out in the Charter, and the experience gained so far will enable the administration of the town to effect economies in the area of purchasing. Further examination of this area is planned.

Question 3

"Certainly I feel that there have been instances where there have been honest differences of opinion as to how individual departmental, yes, overall policy problems, should be solved.

"The Board has, I think, honestly and straight forwardly tried to meet situations as they arose, to anticipate and to plan for the future in so far as was possible."

Michael E. BrennanQuestion 1

"The Selectmen, as we all know, do not set the wage scale for town employees, however, as a policy making board they could examine, study and advise the manager on their feelings toward a fair salary scale for the employees.

"I believe that if the police question is approved by the voters, then the fire department should be raised accordingly. If the question is rejected, the town employees should receive an increase between the three percent offered and the 11 percent desired. I also feel that the Board of Public Works and the town officers (town clerk, tax collector, treasurer etc.) should receive the maximum possible. The general feeling among those I questioned including both town employees and townspeople was to the effect that the town manager has been very fair in the past, and all seemed to agree he would continue this policy.

Question 2

"I think we have centralized purchasing now in the form of a requisition program.

"This requires the various departments to submit their needs and receive purchasing orders for all items over $15. Items over $500 are put up for bid. Increasing the centralization would naturally effect a saving and it could possibly be a great amount. However, I would want to know whether a purchasing agent or buyer would be required, and also if a staff was needed to assist him. Would we need storage space and stock clerks, and what would be the added cost to the people? I would seek more information from towns approximately the same size as Andover as to their purchasing policies.

Question 3

"Our present Board of Selectmen has used its strong policy making prerogative only to oppose new industry.

"They displayed a lack of leadership by their silence during the Urban Renewal question. They are years behind in the land taking and land acquisition program. They chose to investigate the charter after town meeting refused to order it, and now they are stalling in the Raytheon parking problem. As you stated in your recent editorial 'no wonder the town has a reputation for dragging its heels'.

"As long as our present board is influenced by the anti-business group, we can hope for no relief on our tax base. If I am successful I would ask to be assigned to the industrial commission, and I would initiate a sincere effort to obtain new industry. I would pursue this to the point of recommending a reorganization of other boards and committees that I think impede this policy."

Robert A. WattersQuestion 1

"Regarding question #3 on the ballot, it is my opinion that this should not be on the ballot.

"According to our Charter, the town manager is given the responsibility of establishing wages for all town employees. The attempt by any group of town employees to circumvent this authority by appealing directly to the voters for approval of specific wage figures, violates, in my opinion, both the letter and spirit of our town charter and should not be approved.

"I certainly believe all town employees are entitled to proper wages consistent with their responsibilities and performance, and I am confident our town manager is sincerely desirous of seeing this is done. I am willing to go along with his decision of a three percent raise for all employees.

Question 2

"I approve of centralized purchasing, and am confident that such a department, properly managed, would result in considerable savings.

Question 3

"As a result of my experience on the Board during the past seven months, I feel we could increase the degree of our policy-making prerogatives, within the framework of the Charter. If elected to the Board on March 2nd, I shall work to that end, by requesting the Board to make a complete review of all existing policies and make any revisions or clarifications that may be necessary."

Roger W. CollinsQuestion 1

"This is a question which can not be answered emotionally on the one hand or with political motivation on the other. It requires extensive salary and wage surveys among comparable municipalities and industries and I can not make such surveys. Andover has a fine employee group and they deserve the fairest treatment possible. The taxpayer also should be treated fairly. Whether the increase should be three, four, five or some other percent I can not possibly determine.

"However, 11 or 12 percent is too high. No such raise is given where annual increases have been granted regularly for at least seven years.

Question 2

"Paraphrased, this question really asks, 'Should the Town's Officers obey the Town's Charter?' There can be only one answer, of course!

"As to whether or not central purchasing is justified in Andover, I can not say. I am not a purchasing expert. However, Andover has such experts among its citizens and, if elected, I would urge the Selectmen to avail themselves of these skills and determine just how to implement this part of the Charter as soon as possible.

Question 3

"No, the Board has not. There has been too little long range planning on capital expenditures, broadening the tax base, recreation, control of Town growth, etc. These activities must be expedited. In addition, the Town Manager must be supervised more closely."

J. Paul HerbertQuestion 1

"Under Andover's Selectmen-Town Manager Charter, the town manager, not the Selectmen, has the direct responsibility for setting compensation for town employees. However, as a private citizen I do plan to vote in favor of increasing the salary of the police patrolman to a minimum of $6,300 after three years' service. This will increase this policy."

the weekly gross pay of the patrolman to $121.

"As to the three increase recommended manager for other town employees (excepting School Department) have compared the hourly wages paid in the other 14 towns with the wages established by Evans Associates under the Personnel Law of 1958, and have found that the hourly pay in Andover is the lowest of the 14 towns. The increase recommended by the Manager will still leave our employees well below the wages paid by this group of towns considered comparable to Andover, therefore, I am in favor of this increase.

Question 2

"I would be strongly influenced by the recommendations of the Charter Study Committee. A centralized control of purchasing should be adopted to the extent that it is not now practiced.

"However, I would wish the opportunity to review presently the purchasing method in use before arriving at a final detailed policy since my past experience as a general purchasing agent could help in this area.

Question 3

"I think that there has been, naturally, some 'growing pains' in the area of policy-making. The Board defined its new status in the Charter during the past few one-half years.

"I believe that the Board now reached the stage where it can and will act more strongly in this area. I am in favor of the necessary policies set forth in writing as formal resolutions of the Board for guidance of the manager and other affected Town board departments."

School Board Candidates Give Specific Answers

These are the three questions asked of candidates for the School Committee.

Do you think there is a need for new secondary school housing? If so, do you favor an addition to the high school or a new senior high school?

Do you think town-wide centralized purchasing should be adopted as specified in the town manager charter?

What do you think of including a swimming pool in any proposed secondary school construction program?

The answers by the candidates, in the order they appear on the ballot March 2, follow:

William A. Doherty

Question 1

"We have nearly 800 in the Senior High school building which was built to house 750 and over 900 in the Junior High, which is now overcrowded also. There are approximately 2,500 in the first six grades. Six years from today these children will be at secondary level, along with approximately 1500 more increase in enrollment, plus those from St. Augustine's school. So, we certainly need more housing and an addition is not the answer. We need the present high school for a second Junior high building so that we won't have to build a new Junior high. Considering the requirements for the high school it would be much more feasible to build a new building. We are at the crossroads. This is the time for the big decision. If we don't build a big high school large enough to house elementary children temporarily, we will have to build three 20-room elementary schools by 1970. The children are here. We should do it the long range economical way and stop trying to save money this year and pay out much more later. Stop being penny wise and pound foolish.

"I think that town-wide centralized purchasing is the biggest mistake in the charter.

It was suggested recently by a supposedly competent person that a purchasing agent's department would cost the Town about $20,000 per year or a quarter of a million dollars over the next dozen years. For what? Just for what? So that someone can appoint a friend to a soft job? Already we are purchasing all of the Town fuel oil in bids handled by the Town Manager. Maybe we are saving and maybe not. Who knows? Years ago we tried this for some time and the coal dealers all submitted concurrent bids. What did we save in those days? Little wonder we gave it up. The only item which has been pointed out as being used in any quantity in all departments is toilet paper. In 1963 the school department purchased 32 cartons at $424 and the other Town departments purchased about four cartons. How much would the Town have saved on a one bid deal and how much would those few pennies stack up against the $20,000 being thrown down the drain, supporting a purchasing agent's office?

"To use the common expression, 'Who's kidding who?' The School department doesn't use road building materials and trucks. The Public Works Department doesn't use fire apparatus, books and crayons. The librarians don't wear uniforms like the police and fire departments. The only thing that we all use in common is fuel and toilet paper.

Question 3

"I honestly believe that the Town in the next few years will build a swimming pool, a skating rink, a lighted up stadium.

"Regardless of how some of us might feel personally, I don't think that we can stop these projects in the next decade. Therefore, it would be a matter of sound economics to include them in this project, build them now as a part of the big high school and get up to 40 percent back from the State. If we don't do this we will have to build them later at the high costs and with no return from the State. Our director of athletics estimates that the stadium might have brought in up to half a million dollars in gate receipts over the past 25 years. The school budget this year includes an item of $23,600 for the athletic program. We have saved the cost of the stadium but we pay it out in the budget. Again, 'Who's kidding who?' Likewise the swimming pool and skating rink could be used in the school program and built at 40 percent savings and operated outside of school hours for recreational purposes with suitable fees being charged, thus returning the cost to the Town over a period of years.

"We have been saving money in one pocket and closing our eyes to the fact that we are paying out larger sums from the other pocket.

"Those who for one reason or another feel that they may be around only for a short time try to stall off building any part of these projects. They don't care what happens after they are gone. The fact of the matter is that the younger generation even those in high school today will be the ones who will pay off the 20 year bond issue. They can't hope to duck it and they want progress.

"There are those who would build an auditorium which would house only half of the student body. They would plan a building for 1,500 expandable to 1,800 but an auditorium for about 800.

"The Memorial Auditorium at the Junior High School seats 861, the largest in the system. Thirty years ago there were those who wanted to limit that to 500 capacity. Isn't it foolish? Additions are always expensive. It would be cheaper to build the 1,800 school now and much more satisfactory to build the large auditorium now. The difference in cost between an auditorium for 1500 and one for 2,000 would be only $100,000 and forty percent would be borne by the State, giving the Town the satisfactory job for $60,000, not so much when we are considering spending between four and five million.

"It's time that we built one big enough and stop the attitude of going only for what they figure the people will accept. The people want the job done right and they are looking for leadership from the elected officials. There is no long range economy in cutting corners and building something unsatisfactory which is going to cost more in the long run."

Lee E. Noyes

Question 1

"Yes, I do think there is a need for secondary school housing. I feel strongly that an addition would be both practical and economical. I sincerely urge this.

Question 2

"Since the town manager charter specifies centralized purchasing, I think that this should be followed. This is the only way that we, as taxpayers, will ever know whether this is the most economical, or, to revert to the previous manner of localized departmental purchasing.

Question 3

"The idea of including a swimming pool in any secondary construction program is, to me, at the present time, unthinkable. I think our secondary school housing should consist of the most economical additional construction, without any unnecessary extras. I believe our school tax burden should be kept at a minimum."

Robert E. Sherman

Question 1

"Andover is in the situation of having both the junior and senior high school buildings filled to capacity at the same time. There are 902 students in the junior high building which has a capacity of 900 at the very most. In the senior high school, 788 students occupy a building with a capacity of 750. There is a definite need for additional secondary school space, and we should provide this as soon as possible.

"Having two schools full at the same time poses complex problems. Two solutions to this have been proposed after almost three years of study.

"I believe that it is the responsibility of the school committee to define our overall educational program. This is being done in the form of 'educational specifications'. When these specifications are completed, they are to be turned over to the building committee. The building committee has been appointed by the town manager, and is responsible for constructing the building.

"My position on this question is that I will keep myself free to determine that the ultimate plan, as developed by the building committee, meets our educational needs. There is some possibility that the ultimate plan may be neither the extension nor the new building in the forms suggested to date. The building committee has not restricted itself to a choice between these two plans.

Question 2

"I am in favor of town-wide centralized purchasing if the following conditions are satisfied: First, the practices set up should in no way restrict the responsibilities of the school committee in providing for a quality educational program. Second, the methods adopted should result in financial savings to the community.

Question 3

"Because of the large secondary school appropriation ahead of us, I believe that we should not spend the money for a swimming pool at the present time. In discussions with our superintendent, I find that the secondary school physical education program is at a minimum. In my opinion, the expansion of basic physical education is more important than the addition of the pool. However, I believe that it would be a sound economic plan to design the facilities such that a pool could be added in the future."

Highlights Of Charter Study Report

Committee Comments On Nine Charter Goals:

1. It places the administration of the Town's affairs in the hands of a full-time executive who is trained and experienced in the management of municipal business.

Partly implemented; lack of involvement in school planning until recently, and absence of purchasing for school department's non-educational materials cited; committee fails to understand why school construction requirements were not followed as they were allegedly known to all parties.

2. It makes possible operating economies through central purchasing of supplies and the pooling of personnel and equipment.

Only the pooling of personnel has been carried out to any extent; no central purchasing; can't, therefore, determine where operating economies have been achieved; procedures used in purchasing require tightening re-inspection of purchases, accompanying receiving slips, etc.

3. It eliminates competition between boards for Town appropriation and bases requests for appropriations on the over-all needs of the Town.

Charge of "fiscal irresponsibility" leveled here - planning based on what planners think town can afford instead of what it wants or needs.

4. It makes possible better coordination of Town activities and an over-all program for future development.

"Only a little evidence this has been achieved". Abundant confusion cited, in terms of recreation committee and recreation program; school building plans; use of personnel and equipment and an over-all plan for future development of the town - all cited to show confusion.

5. It frees the selectmen from the details of administration and allows them to devote their time and efforts to policy decisions.

"One of the most important, if not the most important, objective" of the charter. Long-range planning and policy making are prime responsibilities of the Selectmen - not enough time has been devoted to them. Too much time devoted to details of administration, which are the responsibility of the manager; Board should supervise manager and must work out the way to accomplish this best.

6. It provides the voters with more convenient access to the Town Government and assures them of more immediate action on their problems.

Committee was divided, but the consensus was that this would occur if the charter is adequately implemented, "but that it has not worked out that way".

7. It improves the morale of employees of the Town by assuring them of impartial treatment and equal consideration.

In some areas, morale is poor; suggestions for personnel board and other improvements, can be found in greater detail elsewhere in this issue.

8. It speeds up the preparation of the Town Budget, simplifies its presentation, and makes possible more thorough study by the Selectmen and the Finance Committee before Town Meeting.

This has not been done, but would be to the best interests of the town if the charter could be implemented. Citizen doesn't know where tax dollar goes, due to spending for purposes not voted at town meeting - area of transferring funds from department to department, or doing work without back-charging.

9. It does away with costly delays which are unavoidable when day-to-day decisions are dependent on committee action.

This could not be measured, with existing data.

MAJOR ITEMS ARE RECOMMENDED

mended that departmental payrolls be listed for the complete year. Current practice, the report explains, is to include some payroll money in special articles and under snow removal.

A full year's salary budget for each department would thus leave special articles, and snow removal accounts, with materials and equipment rental only.

Joint Concert At Phillips Academy

The Music Department of Phillips Academy will present a program of sacred and secular music Saturday, Feb. 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the Martha Cochran Chapel on the campus.

This will be a joint concert of the Walnut Hill School Glee Club, the Phillips Academy Glee Club and the Phillips Academy Band.

The public is cordially invited to attend, and there will be no charge for admission.

Evening Circle Met Thursday

The Women's Evening Circle of West Parish Church met last Thursday for a most enjoyable evening.

After the business portion of the meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Robert Scribner, the devotional program, based on the theme of Family Thank Offerings for the Christian World Mission, was presented by Mrs. Frank Brimblecom, with Mrs. Herman Koester, Mrs. Francis Morgan and Mrs. James Stewart assisting.

The speaker for this meeting was the Rev. Bruce VanBlair, who gave an inspiring talk on "Forgotten History", after which there was a lively discussion period. Mrs. Robert DesRoches and her refreshment committee served dessert and coffee to conclude the evening.

AT WORKSHOP

Mrs. Jerome E. Andrews Jr. of Andover attended the Radcliffe College alumnae workshop Feb. 11.

Mrs. Andrews, a class agent, met with Mrs. Philip H. Walker, chairman of the Alumnae Association's annual giving committee.

PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert G. Moulton of Forbes In. entertained Mrs. Moulton's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Clement of Boston for several days recently.

Areas Of Criticism

Selectmen

The Selectmen spend too little time on policy matters; too much time on details of administration.

The Board needs to decide to what extent it will supervise the manager, and how this shall be done.

The Board should study its relations with the manager's office, in terms of policy vs administration.

Recommendations to the Board, for primary attention, were matters of long-range planning and policy decisions; secondary in point of time consumed at least is supervision of the manager. The report urged the Selectmen to meet with department heads and the manager occasionally, with other boards and committees, and to inspect various projects and town activities.

Manager's Office

Central purchasing is not being undertaken as required in the charter.

Some committee appointments are made, and the Selectmen learn about them through public announcements.

Some committees do not get or have not had, descriptions of their responsibilities.

Policy suggestions have been made to the town, through the newspapers, and not to the Selectmen as required in the charter.

School Committee

Report concluded that:

The School Committee, manager and others involved were told, a year ago, the proper procedure to get school planning accomplished. Failure to abide by the charter, the report asserts, resulted in the delay now being experienced.

Assignment of purchasing authority to superintendent violates spirit and intent of charter, if not its legality.

Fiscal Affairs

The report charged "fiscal irresponsibility" against unnamed town officials who, the committee found, base decisions on expanding services or increased budgets on what they believe the taxpayers can afford.

This should all be decided on the basis of what the town wants and needs, the report asserted.

New ideas aimed at improving the government, and making it more efficient, are always welcome. But the report suggests this is not what current policy aims towards at all.

Current policy looks towards "spending rather than saving and is inconsistent with the spirit, meaning and intent of the charter", the report concluded.

Report also asserted that taxpayers don't know where tax dollars go, because funds of one department are spent for work done for another department; more is spent, thusly, for a department than was voted at town meeting.

Salaries

The Charter Study report alleges that partial treatment and unequal consideration may exist on some employee levels.

A personnel board study is recommended.

The committee believes it is too difficult for one man, the manager, to stand up against the pressure of a group or of threats to resign, etc. Adjustments, the report noted, have resulted in most salaried jobs moving out of the lower pay grade established a few years ago - probably all out of proportion to any changes in job requirements.

Report notes that, whether or not inequalities exist, there is a feeling on the part of some employees that this is the case.

FINCOM ACTS ON SPECIAL ARTICLES

2-21/2 dollars may be increased. Duff had figured on the equivalent of $1 on the rate - $100,000 - from this source.

Here's the FinCom's decision on the major spending articles in the warrant:

Articles 6-7, approved; the former allows receipt of a state grant, the latter is chapter 90 money. Town appropriates $54,000 but receives one-half from the state and one-quarter from the county in reimbursed funds.

Article 8 - Rogers Brook - $25,000 plus $125,000 bond issue, to be used only if state matching funds are approved.

Article 9 and 10 - approved. Article 13 - approved spending $79,900 for water improvements; deleted were culverts on Haggett's Pond rd. and Wood Hill rd.

The article asking for $128,210 in drainage work has been held up, pending additional data.

Article 15 - approved $3,300 to add to pensions for employees retiring before Jan. 1, 1963; only 22 persons are involved.

Article 18 - held for further consideration, after Selectman Cronin's presentation of facts and costs to renovate the structure and create a new police station.

Article 20 - $12,000 for school Building Committee planning, approved.

Article 21, asking for $25,000 for land acquisition, approved with provisions: that the article be as general as possible and not tie the hands of the Committee by too detailed specification of sites, and that amendments to accomplish this be presented at town meeting; concerning articles 22-23, by the Taxpayers Association, FinCom recommended withdrawal or incorporation into town-sponsored article under provisions cited for article 21.

Article 24 - asking $10,000 to do work at former Camp Olympia, not approved due to other financial demands on the town. FinCom said over-all plan there calls for some $20 to $30,000 expenditure eventually.

Articles 25-26-27, not approved. Articles 28-29-30, dealing with requests for pay boosts, do not meet FinCom approval, based on charter provisions that the manager sets salaries.

The Committee agreed to hold open, however, article 28, which would establish salaries for the "brass", if the police question is approved on the ballot. The question itself applies only to patrolmen and not to sergeants or the chief.

Article 31 - add $50,000 to stabilization fund, approved;

Article 32 - held open to see how much can be applied against expenses, to offset tax rate; article 33 - $35,000 approved for transfer to reserve fund.

The remaining articles do not require an expenditure, and are not within the FinCom's area of responsibility.

Townsmen Editorial Thoughts

Pros & Cons In Fine Balance

The town department created only a few years ago to handle all engineering problems — except those of such sheer magnitude that they obviously require consultants and large outside staffs — is under serious study by the Finance Committee and Selectmen.

As envisioned by Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, the engineering department eventually will consist of three men, at least. In addition to an engineer, the town would employ both a senior and a junior engineering aide. Interns might be used for a period of time — eventually the men would be permanent.

At the moment, the position of town engineer is vacant.

Thus the responsible officials — FinCom and Selectmen — have a chance to take a second look at the department, and determine whether, with an understanding of the growth potential, it is warranted. Such an examination rarely is possible; under ordinary conditions, once a department is created, there is no practical way to remove it even if this seems desirable.

While we do not, at this point, recommend abandoning this department, we suggest that careful attention be given to its potential value, in terms of its possible cost to the town.

Sometimes it's cheaper, and just as professional, to pay a consultant. On other occasions, the town can profit by having its own engineer.

To date, these factors seem to be in the balance.

Sensible Solution To Pressing Need

Selectman Paul Cronin makes an impressive pitch for his proposed police station, utilizing a renovated barn on the town-owned Shaw property.

And if his cost estimates continue to remain under $75,000, serious attention should be given to approving this article at town meeting.

Moving the station out of the town hall would have two major advantages.

Of primary importance is the new station itself — there has been no disagreement over the wretched quarters the station now occupies, and the need for major improvements. This has not been accomplished to date, not because the need went unrecognized but because the police station has always been tied in with the fortunes of the new town hall.

Local Professionals Available

The Taxpayers Association and the Finance Committee agree on the need for a study of town accounting procedures, to determine whether automated equipment should be installed.

The difference of opinion comes over details — the Taxpayers seek a study by laymen, to find out whether a professional study is needed later.

The Finance Committee wants the professional study done at once.

In this community, we believe, are men of substantial experience in this field — experts, professionals — men who would qualify for such a study by training, experience and objectivity. These men would certainly be called professionals, if their credentials were examined by other communities. Here, we call them laymen and tend to diminish their talents.

While this is standard procedure in all communities, and not to be surprised at here, we suggest that a combination of the FinCom and Taxpayers ideas can work well for the town.

Rather than being amazed at finding such local, expert help, we would be truly surprised if an over-abundance of professionally qualified men are not available for this brief but necessary municipal study.

Let's look around us for this voluntary assistance before spending tax dollars to obtain the same end results.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman: "This being town budget time, I am reminded of the editorials which have appeared in the Townsman from time to time during the past year, regarding the across-the-board cut which the Taxpayers' Association proposed last March and the town meeting adopted. There is a background to this proposal which I believe the Townsman and the citizens of Andover should be made aware of. I am not writing this letter as an official comment from the Association but merely as an individual member who happened to be present at the discussions and the review of the budget.

"The general procedure used in Andover for years past has been to review the proposed budget item by item, detail by detail. This is fine, so long as it is a relatively small budget for a relatively small town. However, as the town and its activity grow, it becomes difficult, if not impossible, to control expenditures in this manner and recourse should be made to the method used by good-sized industry. Here, broad classes of expense are keyed to the amount of business expected and the overall budget is measured against the same yardstick. This can be done in a municipality by using growth as a yardstick.

"Using this method last year, it was noted that the 1963 requests exceeded 1962 expenditures by 11 percent while town growth plus built-in increases from 1962 totalled a bit over six percent. When the Taxpayers' Association asked why this excess was needed, we were told, 'We were tight last year.' When I replied that the town expected a tight performance with no 'fat' in the budget, we were told, 'Andover can afford it.'

"So long as budgets are set by what some individual or small group of individuals thinks Andover can afford, instead of what is essential or what the taxpayers wish to buy, we will have climbing tax rates far and beyond what is reasonable. The old method of checking detail by detail permits you to look at the trees but makes it difficult to see the forest. Industry learned that many years ago and the Taxpayers' Association used this knowledge last year."

talks to be given in the library this season, Friday evening, Feb. 20, at 8 o'clock, Miss Eleanor M. Tucker, Dean of Studies at Abbot Academy, will show colored slides made during her trip around the world in 1963. Miss Tucker has selected slides of Nepal and Kashmir as the subject of her talk.

As in the past, travel talks are open to all those who enjoy seeing and hearing of the interesting travels of others. Each talk runs for about an hour, and all are invited to ask questions afterward. Two other evenings have been set tentatively for other talks: March 27, and April 24, both Fridays.

Why not save all three evenings and see and hear more about the wonderful world in which we live? Bring a friend and come along.

On Mental Health

The library has purchased a six volume work "The Encyclopedia of Mental Health", available for reference use. It was designed to meet the growing need for sound information on a wide range of subjects on the human mind and personality, in normal and abnormal development and functioning. Albert Deutsch outlined the work, selected those who were to contribute articles especially written for inclusion and planned the format before his death. His Board of Consultants helped him in his plans, and have reviewed every phase of the work. Outstanding authorities were recruited to write on the area of their special interests. Written in question and answer form, it divides information into readable chapters and sections. Here is concise and simply presented information for the educated layman and the professional.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago — February, 1889

The birth of George Washington 157 years ago provides a happy event for schools, which are free on his birthday, including the Phillips Academy students. Banks and Post Office people are to have a holiday as well. Almost everyone benefits, except editors and printers.

Mrs. Mary B. Gould will celebrate her 90th birthday on the birthday of the nation's first president, George Washington.

A star of the first magnitude has been discovered by M. C. Andrews on his farm and it is on exhibition at McLawlin's hardware store. It is the "white star" potato, and weighs 1 3/4 pounds.

W. H. Greene has been obliged to do away with his valuable dog. It was kicked by a cow some time ago.

50 Years Ago — February, 1914

The grocery stores will close from 12 to 5 p.m. Monday for town meeting.

It is hoped that the town hall may be filled with the good people of the town Sunday for the no-license rally and that a rousing vote for no-license will be recorded Monday.

Washington's birthday souvenirs are to be presented to every patron of the Colonial theatre on that date.

25 Years Ago — February, 1939

The Finance Committee is predicting a tax rate increase of $3, taking the estimated rate from this year's $29 to $32. Last year, the sum of $30,000 was voted from free cash to help keep the rate down; this year there is barely that amount in the account and thus this source of help will not be available.

The School Committee has cut about $7,000 from its budget, representing approximately half what the Finance Committee asked the Committee to delete. Unsatisfied with this, the FinCom has insisted that the budget be pruned until it is in the range of $182,000.

The Punchard quintet took the measure of Barnstable High's 1938 Cape Cod champions, when the teams met at Memorial gymnasium last Friday evening.

10 Years Ago — February, 1954

After some 50 residents of Shaw-shen violently objected, the Selectmen have refused a permit to the Electric Company for about 25 poles and overhead wires on North Main st. The Street Lighting Committee of the BPW had hoped, by using the new poles, to improve street lighting.

Abbot Academy has received $50,000 from an anonymous source, to be used as the first contribution towards a fund for the erection of a gymnasium.

Over 100 persons registered to vote at the final session last week.

The fire department ambulance had made 105 calls, through Tuesday, since the first of the year. It averages out to about 18 calls weekly — most are for cases of illness rather than accident.

Great Decisions Subjects

For any who are following the Great Decisions on TV or are members of small informal groups following the discussion plan for 1964, this meeting, Thursday, Feb. 20, is the third in the series. Its subject is "Egypt And The Middle East" and the major question that one may ask is "What is behind the present instability in this area, and how is the United States involved?" Further matters of foreign policy suggest such courses as an anti-Nasser policy, or all out support for Nasser, or backing only our friendly allies, or withdrawing into neutralism. These suggested readings may help participants come to some conclusions: The Arab World Today, Berger; The Near East In History, Hitti; Egypt Under Nasser, Kerr; Nasser's Decade, Sherman, an article in Commentary. Good discussion creates an interest in follow-up reading, and there are several books on order on this subject which will give continued enlightenment on a serious problem.

If you are reading ahead on the subject for next Thursday's "Great Decisions" meeting, ask at the library for some of these, all related to the theme "Disarmament: Alternative To The Balance Of Terror?" Herman Kahn's "Thinking About The Unthinkable", Ernest Lefever's "Arms And Arms Control", Thomas Schelling's "Strategy And Arms Control", Sokolovski's "Soviet Military Strategy" and periodical articles, all available at the library. Ask for help if you wish to give intelligent thought to these foreign policy problems.

Story Hours

This week's story hour is arranged around the subject of the American Indian. There will be a story based on an old Indian legend, and a movie "The Loon's Necklace." Thursday afternoon, Feb. 27, at the usual time, 3:35 o'clock, the story hour will be called "Knights of Old". One of the stories is to be "Knights Of The Silver Shield". For all who enjoy the wonderful age and deeds of chivalry this is the ideal program. All boys and girls are invited.

Editor of the Townsman is being town budget time, reminded of the editorials have appeared in the Townsman from time to time during the year, regarding the across-board cut which the Taxpayers' Association proposed last March at the town meeting adopted. It is a background to this proposal which I believe the Townsman citizens of Andover should be aware of, I am not writing better as an official comment of the Association but merely an individual member who needed to be present at the discussions and the review of the general procedure used in the years past has been reviewed the proposed budget by item, detail by detail. This is, so long as it is a relatively small budget for a relatively small town. However, as the town's activity grows, it becomes difficult, if not impossible, to compare expenditures in this manner. Recourse should be made to the method used by good-sized towns. Here, broad classes of use are keyed to the amount of business expected and the over-budget is measured against the yardstick. This can be done by using growth yardstick.

Using this method last year, it was noted that the 1963 requests exceeded 1962 expenditures by 11 percent while town growth plus increases from 1962 was a bit over six percent. The Taxpayers' Association why this excess was needed, were told, "We were tight last year." When I replied that the town had a tight performance with it in the budget, we were told, "Over, can afford it."

So long as budgets are set by some individual or small group of individuals thinks Andover can afford, instead of what is essential or what the taxpayers to buy, we will have climbing rates far and beyond what is affordable. The old method of budgeting detail by detail permits to look at the trees but makes difficult to see the forest. I have learned that many years ago the Taxpayers' Association used this knowledge last year.

shelter area - at the moment, the buildings are not distributed geographically, and must be developed to make the best possible use of them as they exist.

The first step - stocking the shelters with supplies - required the cooperation of the town highway department, Supt. Chlebowski and his men picked the supplies from their depot, according to Batcheller.

A value of $38,199 has been placed on the stored items, and radiological kits are listed at $1,087. The food, in dried form, and water, are guaranteed for five years of storage.

The industries and other buildings where they are stored have donated a total of 30,000 cubic feet of space for the purpose. However, Batcheller explained, the industries and businesses have no liability for the supplies.

Licensed by the engineers for shelter purposes are the Sacred Heart School, St. Francis Seminary, women's dorm at Merrimack College, Walbuck Crayon Co., Raytheon Co., and nine buildings at Phillips Academy.

Batcheller has urged residents not to go looking for the stored supplies out of curiosity in deference to the generosity of the business and school officials who have voluntarily made room available. He promises that a display, showing the various materials and foods will be set up soon in a downtown location.

Children Took Part
In School Assembly

At the first and second grade assembly, held recently at Central School, Miss Bascom's second grade class was in charge. The children presented an interesting and informative program on the subject of "Winter".

The program was an outgrowth of research done by members of the class on subjects related to the winter season, and special days and events which occurred during that period. What the winter season means to us and to the farmer, what birds and animals do in winter, and how Eskimos live where it is always like winter, were some of the topics presented.

A large number of parents and friends were in the audience.

Those participating were: announcer, Thomas Appleton; soloists, Ronald Demers and Cyd Driscoll; speakers, Debra Anderson, Joanne April, David Chapman, Richard Chenevert, Richard Glen-daniel, Marcelle Colaneri, Betty Jean Collins, Denise Doherty,
Steven Ellis, Louis Fisk, Kathryn

Skaters and additional members of the chorus were David Abbott, John Castagnino, Martha Coombs,
Leslie Culbert, Paul Dearborn,
Margaret Dye, Andrea Eldred, Wendy Ellis, Rhonda Gaw, Catherine Henry and Ruth Williams.

Pilot Program
At Jr. High

A pilot program is underway at the Junior High School to introduce some of the basic concepts of mathematics through simple science experiments.

This project was undertaken under the supervision of Edmund E.
Hammond Jr., of Phillips Academy, who was a member of a writing team sponsored by the School Mathematics Study Group of Stanford University to explore the possibilities of "Mathematics Through Science".

Four teachers are cooperating in this project covering each grade level: Richard Neal, Miss Ruth Nelson, Thomas DeLuca and Albert Perley.

Through simple experiments, the student finds enthusiastic participation which opens the door into a new domain of mathematics.
The work supplements the regular textbook, but does not replace it.

Science as we know it today could hardly exist without the help of mathematics. The debt of science to mathematics lies not in its power to deduce truths about nature but in its ability to organize ideas and principles into general laws and then to test the entire scientific structure for logical soundness.

Intellectual curiosity, the spirit of inquiry, clarity of thought are characteristics that are becoming ever more important in this period of unparalleled scientific development.

Today there are uses for mathematics unheard of or even thought about a few years ago. Chemists and physicists have found new uses and interpretations that correlate mathematics and science more closely.

The ideas of position, distance, straight line, parallel, perpendicular, intersection, circle, parabola, area, inside, outside, are introduced by means of coordinates.

Inequalities, relationships, patterns, models, precision, tolerance, standard units become more meaningful.

Impressive evidence is piling up that we finally are moving toward adoption of the Metric System which is the "international language" of science and trade used in 88 countries, including 90 percent of the world's population. Against the Metric System's three units, there are more than 80 units in our English system.

Here is a topic that "Mathematics Through Science" can help clarify.

Through the education oriented TV Series "Science All Stars", some of these correlated projects can be viewed.

Students gain deeper understanding, the verity of proof, clarity, precision, and the knowledge that through the spirit of inquiry new truths are open to mankind.

SELECTMEN HALT
SITE ACTIVITY

Present also were members of the Taxpayers Association. The group has strenuously opposed the Barnard property as being too close to the South School, a safety and traffic hazard.

The Association filed its special article, asking the town to acquire land owned by Cottage Farms, and possibly the D'Annunzio interests, on the side of Rt. 28, nearer the By-Pass.

When Taxpayers objections of the Barnard property were raised the School Committee decided to to further review the site, despite a request to do so. A major felt that detailed study had been given to the areas previously that too few changes have taken place to make added study worthwhile.

Ironically, the site now gested by the Taxpayers is tually the same one that the Committee designated a couple of years ago. The Selectmen and School Committee argued for months about the choice and finally the School Board looked further for property.

Taxpayers Association personnel say that changes in access patterns make the land more desirable now, and that the price has been lowered so that it is more economical. Additionally, members believe the new site is enough from the South School to better serve the south Andover area, without traffic problems result when youngsters cross major routes.

Killilea, 139 Hidden rd. and the late Col. Frank J. Killilea, U.S.A., on Saturday, Feb. 1, at 10 o'clock nuptial Mass in St. Laurence's church, Lawrence.

Very Rev. John A. Daley, O.S.A., pastor, officiated at the ceremony. The church was decorated with fan shaped arrangements of yellow and white chrysanthemums. Miss Eva Canagna was the organist and Rev. Flaherty sang the nuptial hymns.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a white peau de soie gown with fitted bodice and full cathedral train. An open crown of lace and seed pearls held her tiered veil of illusion. She carried a white Missal adorned with a circlet of roses.

Miss Patricia M. Jordan, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a gold dull satin full length gown fashioned with a bell shaped skirt and accented with appliques of gold velvet roses and leaves. Her headpiece of matching gold satin braid had a short veil. She carried a small white prayer book covered with a circlet of yellow roses.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jordan chose a turquoise silk and lace dress with matching jacket and accessories and a corsage of white gladioli.

The mother of the bridegroom chose a Paris pink silk sheath with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The best man was John M. Killilea, brother of the bridegroom. The ushers were Frank J. Killilea, Alfred G. Killilea, brothers of the bridegroom, Kevin E. Jordan, brother of the bride, and Richard J. Grieco of Andover.

A reception was held at the Andover Country Club after which the couple left on a wedding trip to New Hampshire and Vermont. They will reside in Orlando, Fla., where the bridegroom is stationed.

The bride was graduated from Mary's High School and Salem State College. The bridegroom is a graduate of Central Catholic High School and Holy Cross College.

McCADDEN - DOLAN
At St. Augustine's Church, amidst an arrangement of pink and white gladioli, Miss Patricia Dolan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dolan, 27 Stevens st., became the bride of James Francis McCadden, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McCadden, 47 Teele ave., Somerville, at an 11 o'clock nuptial Mass, Saturday, Jan. 25.

The Rev. Thomas F. Walsh, O.S.A., of Merrimack College, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a white imported Irish lace gown, fashioned with a jewel neckline, long pointed sleeves and a bell shape peau de soie skirt accented with a long train caught at the back by a lace and peau de soie cabbage rose. Her finger tip veil of French illusion was draped from a pearl tiara.

Her attendants were Miss Majorie Swenson of Andover, maid of honor; Miss Ann Torrist of Lawrence, Miss Joan Silva and Miss Josephine Cordts of Andover, bridesmaids. Miss Joyce Ann Campbell, cousin of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid.

The maid of honor and the junior bridesmaid were identically gowned in pink velvet bell shaped gowns with jewel necklines and long sleeves. The bridesmaid wore identical gowns in cranberry. Their headpieces were matching velvet bows with face veils and they carried arrangements of white gladioli and orchids accented with pink bows.

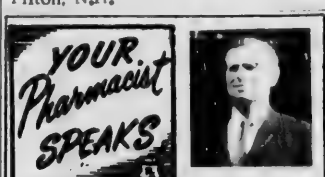

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dolan chose a light blue dress with lace top and crepe skirt accented with a satin cummerbund. Her hat was of light and dark blue flowers and she wore matching accessories.

The mother of the bridegroom chose a light blue brocade dress with white satin hat and accessories to match.

The best man was William Sherman of Somerville. The ushers duties were performed by John McCadden of Lexington, Joseph McCadden of Wollaston, both brothers of the bridegroom, Robert Wessley of Revere and Ernest Clegg of Lawrence.

A reception was held at the Andover Country Club with guests present from Boston, New Mexico, Peabody, Pelham, N. H., Swampscott, Marblehead and Lowell. The couple will reside in Lexington following a wedding trip to North Conway, N. H.

Who at one time or another, hasn't had butter smeared on a slight burn to ease the pain and discomfort?

A newer and equally available therapy involves the use of water and ice. This is excellent for emergency first-aid treatment where less than 20 per cent of the body area is affected. According to a paper in the AMA, relief and good healing and perhaps less redness and blistering can be expected if treatment is begun immediately with ice water or ice-cold compresses.

This is a slightly different matter, but when you are in need of medication prescribed by your doctor, remember SHAWSHEEN PHARMACY. Prescriptions are a specialty at SHAWSHEEN PHARMACY, Shawsheen Square. Free prescription delivery.

Flaherty Is

Going To Villanova

The Rev. Joseph A. Flaherty, O.S.A., Ph.D., chairman of the English Department and director of part-time sessions at Merrimack College, has been appointed vice president for academic affairs at Villanova University, Villanova, Pa., it was announced by Very Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, O.S.A., Ph.D., president of Merrimack College.

Father Flaherty's transfer to Villanova brings to a close almost 20 years of priestly service in the Greater Lawrence area. He was assigned to St. Augustine's parish here in November, 1944. During this period, he was a candidate for a doctorate in English at Harvard University. He was awarded the Doctor of Philosophy degree in English in 1949.

In September 1948, Father Flaherty joined the faculty of Merrimack College. He has been on permanent assignment in various faculty and administrative positions since that date.

It is not at all uncommon for the heady individual to have a head-on collision.

Dates of Issue:
February 20 & 27, 1964Save Evergreens
From Ice DamageA broom or large size brush is needed for winter care of evergreens and shrubs, especially those in foundation plantings around the house.Use it after a heavy snowfall to sweep piled-up snow from the branches, advises Roy C. Beckwith, Never pound the snow loose with a broom handle; that may damage needles and twigs.If lower branches are bent under the burden of heavy snow or buried beneath drifts, lift them gently and shake off the snow. Branches that remain buried under drifts for some time may become bent out of shape.Snow allowed to rest too long on evergreen needles may melt and turn to ice. This ice acts as a magnifying glass to concentrate thesun's rays. The needles become scorched. Next spring brown and dead patches show up. This occurs with great frequency on yew, boxwood and ilex.Pyramidal forms of coniferous evergreens such as arborvitae, juniper and yew can be seriously damaged in a single big snowfall or ice storm by the crushing weight of wet snow or ice. Branches may be broken or bent completely out of shape. This can be avoided:
Tie rope loosely in coil or spiral fashion around these evergreens, starting at the bottom. And keep the rope on all winter long.Ice storms that creep up more silently than cat feet can, in a twinkling almost, cause breakage of trees or bend grotesquely out of shape such supple trees as birches.Usually ice storms start with a wind-still drizzle of rain when the temperature hovers a point or two below freezing. Ice piles on ice, but before this reaches the limb-shattering point, play a stream of water from a garden hose on the ice-coated tree or shrub. Tap water is usually warmer than outside air. This will melt the ice. But do not pound the tree to jar loose the ice. This again may damage the bark.

WILL LISTS

MANY BEQUESTS

Cash bequests totalling $25,000 were listed in the will of Harold C. Bauer of Andover, which was filed in Probate Court recently.
Mr. Bauer died Jan. 28.Nephews of the late Mr. Bauer, William G. Weiss Jr. and Robert
M. Weiss, are each to receive $10,000. They are the children of Mr. Bauer's brother-in-law, William G. Weiss, and his sister, Vera Weiss of Andover.The sum of $5,000 and an electric organ were bequeathed to Mr.
Bauer's brother-in-law, William G. Weiss. In making these bequests to the latter the will stated they were "in appreciation for the many kindnesses and assistance granted me and other members of my family".The remainder of the estate was left in equal shares to Mr. Bauer's brother, Roland H. Bauer of Miami, Fla., and his sister, Vera A. Weiss of Andover. Roland H. Bauer was nominated as executor.The will stated: "This scheme of distribution of my estate is prompted not by any lack of affection for my mother, Helen Bauer, but to effectuate a plan of family distribution in which she fully concurs."Panther In New EnglandIt's no news to newspapers that every season has its silly sightings.Who hasn't read of sea serpents in July. Abominable Snowmen in January, or will-o'-the-wisps in May? And in New England, at this time of year, you're bound to read at least one report of a marauding mountain lion, sighted but not captured, of course.It's on this note that Boston's Museum of Science, dressed in its de-bunking clothes, steps in cautiously. They're not saying that panthers don't exist at all in New England; but they are willing to stake $100 on anyone's chances of finding one.According to Museum officials, it's been well over half a century since a panther - also called mountain lion, puma, cougar, and catamount - has been taken in New England. One of the last, trapped and shot in Wardsboro, Vt., in 1875, is a prized Museum specimen and has just been placed on exhibit there.There have been dozens of "sightings" in past years, but no one has yet been proved true.
Some experts are convinced that these sightings are strictly cases of mistaken identity and suggest that what the viewers actually saw was a large dog, lynx, bobcat, or similar mammal. Others admit that an occasional mountain lion "Felis concolor" may wander into the New England states but deny that the species has returned in any great number to the region.The controversy continues. Witnesses still insist that they see panthers; skeptics still take an "I'm-from-Missouri; you've-gotto-show-me" attitude and demand

Candidates Will Speak Feb. 25

JOHN M. KEMPER

Headmaster John M. Kemper of Phillips Academy will moderate the second "Candidates Night" Tuesday, Feb. 25, at 8 p.m. in the Andover High School Auditorium.

This event is sponsored by the League of Women Voters and gives the citizens an opportunity to hear all candidates express their views on current questions. The feature of the evening will be a question period, during which the audience directs questions at the candidates.

The forum will be under the direction of Mrs. George Edmonds, Voters Service Committee chairman, assisted by Mrs. Crayton W. Bedford, Candidates Night chairman.

Candidates for the Board of Selectmen who will be present are Philip K. Allen, Michael E. Brennan, Robert A. Watters, J. Paul Herbert, and Roger W. Collins. Candidates for School Committee to be present are William A. Doherty, Lee E. Noyes and Robert E. Sherman.

FinCom Wants General Article

Should town meeting specify land for municipal purposes?

The Finance Committee doesn't believe so, and won't approve warrant articles unless they are general enough to avoid that possibility.

Three articles - one filed by the Land Acquisition Committee and two by the Taxpayers Association - deal with land issues, and all three spell out some parcels of land.

The FinCom, through its chairman, Norman Barraclough, has made it clear that the hands of the Land Committee must not be tied.

Article 21 lists several parcels of land, and calls on the voters to appropriate $25,000. This sum would be added to about $67,000 already in hand.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff said the property is listed to conform with legal requirements, in case land takings are necessary. The two following articles specify property for schools and for a sanitary land fill operation.

The FinCom refused approval of the latter two, because they appeared too specific and due also to the money involved.

The Selectmen agreed to modify the articles through an amendment at town meeting. They also will have town counsel review the areas covered in the Taxpayers articles, with the understanding that, in substance, these will be added to the town-sponsored article. The finished product will give a variety of choices, without stating specifically that any one parcel of land must be acquired.
